

Best Value IT Security Network 2022

When it comes to IT protection, the team at Network Box (SIN) Pte Ltd have you covered. Their incredible efforts have allowed SMEs the protection they need at a cost that won't break the bank. With such success under their belt, their success in the Singapore Business Awards 2022 is of little surprise. We take a closer look in the light of their extraordinary success.

IT protection is a crucial part of the world we live in, with more and more of the systems we depend upon now based on this technology. For many companies, the solution has been a proprietary one designed specifically for the circumstances of the individual. The team at Network Box, however, have found a way of offering protection to SMEs and large corporations alike at a fraction of the potential cost.

The team's USP comes from offering the highest possible level of protection 24/7 at a cost which is incredibly competitive. The team have built their product on a process of continuous intelligence gathering to ensure that whatever threats come their clients' way can be halted in its tracks. The defence systems are updated on average every 23 seconds to maintain these incredible high standards. For this reason, the team has been able to work with a range of customers from SMEs with a team of five to large corporations with a staff of >50,000. Such incredible flexibility is at the heart of their continual success. By outsourcing their cybersecurity, customers no longer need to allocate resources for security issues and can focus on running their business.

Working with clients in this field is not always easy as it is by nature incredibly technical. The staff at Network Box are crucial to offering a much needed human face to proceedings. In combination with the highly sophisticated automated platform offered by the firm, Network Box has been able to keep costs to a minimum whilst offering a service that is second to none.

Cyber challenges have become more and more common, particularly during the COVID-19 pandemic. As people have worked from home, so too have cyber criminals. Whilst companies are trying to keep spending to the bare minimum, it's clear that IT protection is a necessary expense for many. It's not enough to rely on traditional systems as they soon fall out of date. Real protection requires an eye on the ball 24/7 to make sure intruders don't break through.

The speed of the team's ability to work, and a showcase of their incredible speed, can be seen in their response to potential threats. The USA Department of Homeland Security Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency issued a warning about Apache's log4j2. Running in the background of many software applications in computers around the world, the vulnerability in this utility library could allow attackers to compromise their systems. Whilst Apache released new versions in good time, the Network Box team had released their own protection within a day. It is not enough to rely on others. Network Box always gets there first, and keeps you safe.

With a world that depends evermore on computers and cyber technology, it's easy to see why so many have turned to Network Box for support. IT offers a world of potential both for the good and the bad, and the Network Box team are always on hand to protect their clients from the worst that might arise. We celebrate their success in the Singapore Business Awards and look forward to their achievements in the weeks and months to come.
